FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

March 16, 2020

SRB Technologies (Canada) Inc. (SRBT) has been monitoring developments around the COVID-19 pandemic and the response from health agencies in Canada and worldwide.

We are continuing to conduct our daily operations to safely manufacture tritium light sources and products that are crucial to ensure the safety and security of people all over the world.

In order to ensure the continuity of both our business operations, and the maintenance of safety during the current COVID-19 pandemic, SRBT has taken a number of actions.

1. Implementation of facility access restrictions:
 - All non-essential visitors to the facility are now prohibited.
 - Delivery and parcel pick up / couriers, and contractors performing work pursuant to our safety programs are the only personnel permitted to access the facility provided that they do not exhibit symptoms and they had no known contact with someone who has been suspected or diagnosed as a carrier of COVID-19.

2. Specific directions to staff:
 - All staff members have been directed to stay home until cleared by a physician should they become sick or develop symptoms, or if they had known contact with someone who has been suspected or diagnosed as a carrier of COVID-19. Our employees were also provided a fact sheet from Health Canada regarding COVID-19, symptoms and best practices.

As with the pandemic, measures will evolve as needed to best optimize our operations, with the primary goal to ensure that facility safety is maintained at all times. Staff are being kept abreast of the developing situation, and SRBT's response.
